An Initial Report on the Audit of Services in Lurgan and Brownlow

Introduction

Together 4 All is a project which developed through a partnership between Atlantic Philanthropies and the Southern Area Children's and Young People's Committee. Led by an interagency committee on which local communities are strongly represented¹ it has the task of developing a proposal for an imaginative 10 year plan for children and young people over the period 2008 – 2018. The plan will focus on the development of sustainable services that will lead to the achievement of positive child focused outcomes.

The project aims to achieve better outcomes for children and young people through services which are:-

- Flexible and responsive
- Stigma free
- Focused on prevention and early intervention
- Based on rights and needs
- Evidence based

It also aims to communicate the effectiveness of preventative approaches and the use of an outcomes framework, and to promote the use of these approaches throughout mainstream services.

The strategy developed will:-

- Be child outcome focused
- Be ambitious
- Be developed in a sound policy context
- Build upon existing positive developments in Lurgan and Brownlow
- Learn the lessons from international models of similar processes
- Be developed through widespread consultation with local communities including children and young people, and with service providers and professionals

These principles are embedded in the Logic Model Process² that is used to support the development of the 10 year strategic plan:-

1. All children and young people have a stable upbringing.

¹ The membership of the Together 4 All Planning Group is listed at Appendix 2

² The Dartington Social Research Unit

2. All children and families live in safe, supportive communities.
3. All children and young people live free from poverty.
4. All pregnant women, new parents and babies thrive.
5. All children are ready for learning and school.
6. All children and young people enjoy and succeed during school years.
7. All children and young people are involved in decisions that affect them.
8. All children and young people make a positive contribution that is valued.
9. All children and young people make a safe transition to adulthood.

Background and Context

The Together 4 All project is focused on the urban areas of Lurgan and Brownlow in County Armagh and the adjacent rural areas of Bleary and Aghagallon.

Selection of the targeted area was made on the basis of information, including geo-mapping already available to the partner organisation, the Southern Area Children's and Young Peoples Committee. The identified community includes areas of high deprivation along with more affluent wards providing an opportunity to demonstrate that the project can make a difference and can also have an impact right across communities. This social mix also offers protection against the project becoming stigmatised.

The Lurgan / Brownlow area presents some specific challenges. It is an area of high need with significant levels of community strife, both across the Catholic / Protestant community divide and between the wider white and settled population and black and minority ethnic and migrant populations. These challenges present an important opportunity to build a model of services for children and young people which could potentially be replicated in any area of Northern Ireland, or elsewhere to meet the needs of the increasingly multi-cultural population on the island of Ireland.

The selected geographical areas have a total child population of 11,514.³ Data available to the project which provided a breakdown by electoral wards indicated that 14 of the 20 areas identified experienced very significant levels of deprivation in relation to a wide range of measurements.⁴

Methodology

The service audit was undertaken with a view to developing an overview of the range of organisations providing family support services in the Lurgan, Brownlow and the surrounding rural areas and the nature of the services and activities on offer to local communities.

The project had access to information on family support services compiled by a number of organisations including:-

- The Southern Childcare Partnership
- Children Services Planning – Family Support Strategy Group
- Craigavon and Banbridge Community Health and Social Services Trust (now known as Southern Health and Social Care Trust)

All of these directories which had recently been updated provided valuable base data on local services and were therefore used as the basis for the audit. This was supplemented by data from a telephone survey of services carried out by Together 4 All project staff and cross referenced with databases held by other community development practitioners.⁵

The objective of this audit was to document the range of family support services available to communities in the Together 4 All target area. This document is intended to form part of the application for funding to the Atlantic Philanthropies.

The findings are based on the analysis of the data available and seek to identify any obvious gaps in services. This document is intended to supplement the work being undertaken elsewhere by the project on assessing the need for family support services throughout the area.

Findings and Analysis

The data suggests that there is a significant range of organisations operating in or providing services to the Together 4 All area. These have been categorised as follows:

Education

11 Nursery schools
14 Primary schools
10 Secondary / High /Grammar schools
2 Behaviour Support Units

⁵ Craigavon & Banbridge Trust Community Development Team and CNC (Community Network Craigavon)

While families can potentially access any of these schools, selection criteria may be applied if a school is oversubscribed. In addition, due to the division of Northern Ireland communities along religious lines, not all schools are perceived as accessible to all families. With some exceptions, children from Catholic families attend maintained schools, while children from Protestant families attend controlled schools. However integrated schools are available to all, with selection criteria applied. Additionally, some Grammar schools outside the Together 4 All area are accessed via the current 11+ system of examination which selects the highest grades for entry. This may exclude many children from availing of this type of education, particularly those from disadvantaged areas.

Childcare

27 Registered Childcare facilities

17 Parent and Toddler groups

There are a number of childcare organisations operating across the voluntary, community and statutory sectors. While there appears to be a significant range of facilities, families in the rural areas of Bleary and Aghagallon may have limited access to facilities which are clustered around Lurgan. Additional pressures exist regarding the availability of affordable, appropriate transport to access services that are located in estates, or centralised in town settings. Again, a problem arises regarding community background as services may be located in perceived Protestant areas or Catholic areas. However Northern Ireland legislation requires service providers to give open access to eligible children regardless of religion, race, or community background.

Currently there is one registered crèche in the Brownlow ward area that is located at Chrysalis Women's Centre and registered for 12 children. In the Lurgan area there are 3 crèche facilities namely Hillside crèche, which is registered for 16 children and limited to those children whose parents are attending Upper Bann Institute; Springwell crèche which is registered for 4 children of parents attending The Springwell Centre and Ozanam Centre crèche providing childcare facilities for 70/80 children per day.

Within the Together 4 All area there are 20 registered child minders offering a total of 84 places⁶. The SureStart organisation identified a need for more good quality child minding provision within the area to cater in particular for the needs of the migrant worker population and to offer respite provision for families where there is a child with disabilities.

⁶ SureStart Funding Proposal

Primary Health Care

The databases used indicated the following primary health care services accessible to families in the Together 4 All area:

- 9 GP Practices
- 8 General Dental Practices
- 8 Ophthalmic Opticians

The databases make no reference to the availability of community pharmacy practices, which under current government policy are promoted as a key element of primary care.⁷

GP practices are based in a variety of locations across the Together 4 All target area. Brownlow Health Centre accommodates a number of practices and many GPs are also based in Portadown and Lurgan town centres. Families in the Together 4 All area are known to access a range of primary care health services in the Portadown area. A new facility is currently being developed in Portadown where all GP services will be located in one facility. It is anticipated that this new Portadown Health and Care Centre will be a centre of excellence providing high quality primary care services and integrating a comprehensive range of clinical and support services under the same roof as the GP practices.

Lurgan GP practices are currently located in a number of facilities throughout the town centre. The development of a Health and Care Centre on similar lines to Portadown could potentially provide improved services for families within the target area. The challenge in relation to primary care services is meeting need and catering for the increasing demand for services. At the moment, waiting times for many primary care services⁸ are increasing and services may not be able to cope with the overall needs of children and families in the area.

Dentists

General dental practices are generally located in town centres, often within older buildings giving rise to problems in relation to access⁹. Increasingly, a number of these practices are moving out of NHS provision and into private care. This has an obvious impact on the availability of NHS services, resulting in families having to travel further to access care that they can afford. This view is supported by research carried out by the Southern Health and Social Services Council on dental health services in the area in 2005.

Age groups

The services listed in the databases have been categorised as far as possible into specific age groups. As many services work across a range of age groups, some repetition occurs in the sections.

The information available suggests that there is a comprehensive range of services across the Together 4 All area for the age range 0 - 4, although a choice of services is more limited in the rural areas. A wide spectrum of services is available including preventative, diagnostic and therapeutic services. In comparison to the 5 -11 age group, there appears to be a significant level of family support services focused on this age group.

The database suggests that service provision for the 5 -11 age groups is less comprehensive than for 0 - 4 years and that there is an uneven geographical spread of services. The rural areas, in particular, appeared to be poorly served in relation to 5 -11 year olds.

Although general recreational activities and programmes provide a broad range of services for young people (5 – 11 years), the programmes are mainly providing services for early years or youth work with older teenagers. There is general recognition that young people, at this stage of their lives, can become vulnerable due to adolescence and emerging issues that are recognised such as bullying and peer pressure, However further analysis may reveal other issues which have an impact on the development and delivery of services for this target group.

Another issue that emerges from the data is the apparent focus on remedial issues rather than intervention at an earlier stage.

The provision of services for the 12 - 18 years age group appears to meet a wide range of needs. Many of the facilities have programmes that include age appropriate interventions including a focus on preventing ill health. A number of youth services focus on this group specifically. Additionally, there was evidence from the database that the processes used had an emphasis on user participation.

Family Support

Many families in the Together 4 All area are likely to be vulnerable due to a range of social determinants such as low paid employment, lack of social support and lack of access to services including education and transport. SureStart¹⁰ suggests that as many as 41% of families in the Together 4 All area are headed by lone parents; 13% (n=36) of children born with a low birth weight; 27% of children were breastfed on discharge from hospital which is half the Northern Ireland average of 54% (Infant feeding survey 2002).

¹⁰ SureStart proposal 2006

In a recent Trust Health Visiting Audit (2005)¹¹ 20.2% of mothers, presented with postnatal depression, which is higher than the national average of 10 -15%. Evidence suggests that depression adversely affects attachment between mother and infant.

In addition to intervention from statutory services and primary care teams, the community and voluntary sector can be an important source of support to families. Information on this sector's activity varied, depending on the directories analysed. A number of organisations are known to have ceased to operate, while other newer organisations are not listed. Some groups have a range of programmes which have changed over time. This could be due to response to need, however another factor is that many voluntary and community groups have to compete for core funding and often have to change the nature of their work to fit into new funding criteria¹²

Another factor that may have an impact on the prevalence of community activity is the challenge regarding the availability or suitable neutral venues. Community groups have expressed their difficulties finding premises that will not offend either side of the community. Additionally, some youth clubs / activities are identified with particular churches which may cause additional problems.

Black and Minority Ethnic Groups (BME)

Craigavon has a resident population of 80,000 with almost 60,000 people living within the urban area. The Borough is made up of a diverse mix of cultures, traditions, races and creeds. Approximately 120 families of Chinese and Vietnamese origin, together with around 70 families of Asian extraction live in the Borough. Craigavon now boasts the second largest population of ethnic minorities outside Belfast. A Portuguese community has also begun to develop particularly in the Portadown area - it is estimated that there is in excess of 500 Portuguese employed in the local food processing industry. Concentrations of different ethnic groupings occur in the wards of Drumgask, Brownstown, Magheralin and Edenderry. Obstacles facing this service user group include language and communication difficulties; cultural barriers; social isolation and lack of knowledge of services

NOTE: Although there are services detailed under Black and Minority Ethnic Groups, ALL of the services provide support for communities that may be isolated due to race, ethnic origin etc
